The Goddard minstrels under the management of George Lewis, will appear at the Pavilion, Wednesday night, March 15.—The troupe is composed of such stars as Lewis, Frisk, Chapell and Hewett as end men. The circle is composed of the best singers in the seminary. The songs are all new and catchy, and each joke contains a laugh. There will be many specialties which will be a feature of the show. If the people of Barre want to see a good show in connection with the regular acts at the Pavilion, don't fail to be there Wednesday night.

The title, "The French king of broken English," fits Felix Martin to a "t." He easily trims up, outshines and cuts circles around anything of a similar nature ever heard at the Pavilion. In the language of our honored ex-president, he has everything beaten "to a frazzle." He had been on the stage but a few minutes before the audience began to giggle; the giggle rapidly developed into a roar and when Felix thought it was time to quit, the crowd thought differently. Felix had to come back. Come to think of it, he came back three times, and even then he had to set his feet down and refuse to come back any more. There is no doubt about it: he has the goods. Anyone that cannot laugh at him is in need of immediate medical attendance. Johnson Brothers & Johnson also proved good. Their miniature minstrel first part is a decided novelty. Their voices harmonize nicely; their end songs and jokes are pleasing and get many a laugh. The two reels of Biograph pictures that come to-day will make the show an exceptionally strong one.

CONFESION ADMITTED

As Evidence in Trial of Mrs. Melber Yesterday.

Albany, N. Y., March 10.—Scores of women, who packed the courtroom yesterday at the trial of Mrs. Edith Melber, sobbed audibly as Assistant District Attorney Alexander, sketching the details of the frail little woman, told of her marriage, the birth of her boy a short time after the death of her husband, her several love affairs, and finally of the alleged incidents leading up to the murder of little George, with which she is charged.

"On the afternoon of January 9," he said, "she came to Albany. When the boy was refused admission to the orphan asylum, he was heard to say as they descended the steps, 'Mother, mother, you must take me now; nobody will keep me.'"

"That night the mother returned to Schenectady alone; her boy would never be in the way any more. The tiny lad lay out in the open field on the cold ground, with face toward the stars through five cold winter nights, and toward the brilliant sunlight through five cold winter days."

Mr. Alexander then told of Mrs. Melber's flight to Rochester, of her arrest and subsequent confession, alleged to have been made to the authorities of that city.

The defense objected to the admission of the confession, but the court decided to admit it.

Six witnesses, all from Schenectady, testified yesterday, including Mrs. Melber's mother, Mrs. Melber, her friend, Everett Swasey; Thomas Stone, a householder, Everett Jackson; Mrs. Deane, his wife, Frieda Hooker; Helen Stone, their daughter; Alice Stebbins; Mrs. Ramsey, their next door neighbor, Blanche Perkins; Betty, a maid, Jeanie Mitchell.

Some of the New Ideas in Children's Dresses!

Styles of Children's Dresses have changed quite a bit as the cut shows, but not half as much as the style of materials used. New cloths are fashioned so as to give that better and prettier effect to the new style of dress. These cloths are in our stock. Such as Linaire, Flaxons, and even though it be a Gingham or a Percalé, the styles from last season are very different.

Wash Goods for Misses' Dresses

The cheapest is best Prints at 6¢ per yard, and not an old pattern there. All of the old ones were closed out in January. These patterns were all of them selected with as much care as though they were $1.00 per yard.

Ginghams are the king cloths of the whole wash goods line. These are in new patterns—patterns that would at first sight appeal to you as of double the value asked. Anyone that has last season's Gingham, old styles, even though the cloth is as fine, will find them poor sellers. The price cannot be made low enough to tempt ladies away from these new styles that we are talking about.

Apron Prints from 6½¢ to 9¢. Good dress styles at 10¢. These are Amoskeag Gingham, fast colors and staple goods.

Bates Gingham sell every where at 12½¢. The only difference to you is the assortment. What do you usually find here?

New lot of Misses' Coat Sweaters, up to 34 size, the best at $1.50 ever in our store. Also a special in Ladies' Fancy Wool Sweaters at $2.35. (Will be more later.)

White Muslins, White Sheer Linens, White India Linens, White French Muslins, Organdies, Poplins that look like silk, and White Jap Silks—these are all of them inexpensive and all right for parties or graduation dresses.

The new Silk and Mercerized Cloths from 25¢ to 50¢ per yard are so near in value to more expensive Silks that they are very rapid sellers. These are on our special tables, shown up with trimmings to match.

Rough Wear Silks, yard wide, at 65¢ and 1.00, make durable dresses for misses and are the latest style.

For light weight dresses, to be trimmed with laces and embroideries, we have the following cloths:—

In colors or white grounds, with small figures at 12½¢, 18¢, and 25¢, we have Dimities and Muslins. The cloth called Linaire, which has a beautiful mercerized finish, at 18¢ per yard, and the best advertised cloth on the market,
